Incentives and Motivation

PANSEA camp

Designed respecting both tradition and the environment, this refined camp is located in an exceptional location where the silence and grandeur of the scenery are ideal for a dream evening that won't fail to cast you under its spell...

Team Building in the Berber Villages

A day's adventure in 4x4 consists of Driving off-road to Douiret or the Berber villages of Chenini, Ghomrassen and the "ksours". Horse-drawn carriages, donkeys and camels will be your docile mounts as part of a mini Olympics, while the more adventurous can try donkey back polo or drive a quad around the surrounding hills and fields for a day packed with excitement. Open bar at sunset will leave you in a dreamy mood. Dinner under Berber tents is always spectacular!

Themed evenings

Evenings around the pool or in magical locations, fully privatized, with a historic theme (in a Carthaginian, Roman, Oriental, Bedouin setting, or just like back home, Black & White)! 1001 ideas waiting for you to choose from, and that's just the beginning.

Recreation of a typical Berber village, including herds of camels, teams of horses and some domestic animals

Setting

- A tent for traditional henna, a woman decorates the hands and feet of participants with henna.
- A tent reserved for “harkous” or traditional tattooing.
- A tent for demonstrating how the traditional bread, “tabouna”, is prepared.
- A tent for the nargila water pipe (“chicha”) and mint tea.
- Caravans of camels and horses near to the camp.
- A tent for the fortune teller, revealing the secrets of your future.

Entertainment includes the following:

- A traditional folkloric dance troupe: troupes in a variety of costumes performing different dances.
- Belly dancers and Oriental dancers.
- Fashion parade of traditional costumes from the region of Djerba.
- Fire eaters and dancers balancing jars on their heads.
- Sword dance.

Treasure Hunt

Djerba is the island of Lotophages supposedly discovered by Ulysse. It is a very unique island in Tunisia that has its own very distinctive identity. A quarter of its inhabitants speak Berber dialects and it is home to a small Jewish community.

The capital Houmt Souk has a lively market, a thirteenth century fort, a Baroque Catholic Church and unusual Islamic architecture in the Mosque of the Turks and the Mosque of the Strangers.

In the middle of this flat island is the Ghriba Synagogue which has one of the oldest Torahs in the world, and is still visited by Jewish pilgrims from all over the world.

Houmt Souk

The island's administrative capital is a small town that has preserved its olde-worlde charm.

The Souks

In the heart of the medina, the souks are a network of small shop-lined narrow alleys. The souks are always lively. Here you can find cloth, carpets, utensils and jewelry. The jewellers' souk reflects the island's prosperity.

Dinner at restaurant El Houch

Upon arrival clients will be welcomed by a traditional folkloric troupe dressed in typical tunica playing mythical songs “Hadhra”

An exotic or traditional Tunisian dish: « Agneau à la gargoulette » lamb cooked in a terracotta water jug with vegetables that is shattered ceremoniously in front of you... !

Dinner at Djerba explore tents will be installed, the torches and corridors of carpet will guide our guests towards their tents where the tables will be installed. An immersion in the middle of the rites and habits of the Bedouins of the Sahara

Dinner at the Museum

The Museum of Popular Art & Traditions

The museum enables visitors to discover the wealth of the island's folklore. The collection is well-presented, with detailed explanations. Here you will find a rich treasure of costumes from various social and ethnic groups, jewels made by Jewish craftsmen, volumes of the Koran, plus trunks, kitchen utensils, a reconstructed pottery workshop with examples of pottery, large amphorae, ornamental plaster-work and ancient ceramic tiles.

From Houmt Souk, you can travel by boat to the very end of the Ras er Rmel sandy peninsula. Here the beach is beautiful, the water is pure and the landscape is untouched. Organised excursions, with delicious lunches, are available.
